Port Alberni Tragedy

Honeymooning Flier Sacrifices Life To Save Young Bride from Danger

Crushed Between Two Cars

An RCAF officer, killed while thrusting his bride of one day from the path of a runaway car in Port Alberni yesterday, became B.C.'s first fatality of the holiday weekend.

The victim, married Friday night at Comox, was identified later as FO L. S. Wall of Portage la Prairie, Man.

In a second holiday accident, four persons were injured when their car overturned on the Malahat last night after crashing into a five-foot ditch and skidding 30 feet upside down.

PLEA FOR CAUTION

In an effort to stave off the grief of further holiday highway accidents city police and RCMP last night urged the public to take extra caution and to adjust speed according to traffic and weather conditions.

In the Port Alberni tragedy, a new car, parked at a garage, suddenly rolled across the street, striking Wall as he passed behind another car.

The airman apparently gave his own life saving his young bride from harm, according to a witness from a nearby hotel.

The witness, who saw the couple in the street from a window of the Somaas Hotel, where the flier and his bride were honeymooning, said the airman's last heroic act was to push his bride out of the way of the runaway car before he was cut down.

He was crushed between the two vehicles.

SAILORES GIVE AID

First on the scene of the Malahat accident were three sailors from HMCS Naden, travelling with Petty Officer Joe Woods of Victoria. They pulled a girl from the back seat of the crushed car and rendered first aid.

Police were unable to give immediate identification of the injured who were apparently travelling from Port Alberni to Victoria when the car struck the ditch on a curve in the road, crashed into a rock and splintered back along the temporary road surface on its roof.

The car was a total wreck. Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, the four victims were said to be "not in a serious condition" by attendants.

Factory 'Hoodooed'

COVENTRY, England (Reuters)—Grim-faced workers in a factory near here stood silent at their benches Friday as an Anglican priest conducted a service designed to rid the place of a "hoo-doo".

Some workers believed there was an evil spirit in the plant because four executives died suddenly in recent years.

'Kiss Me Quick'

ZANZIBAR (AP)—Princess Margaret drove around this colorful clove and spices island yesterday, cheered by native women wearing censored dresses.

Written messages on the women's kangas—brightly colored robes—are all the rage here. The messages are usually Swahili-language versions of "come up and see me sometime," "kiss me quick," or even more forthright invitations.

A special censorship board was set up to make certain the "royal tour" dresses, with English-language messages imported from Hong Kong, had nothing worse than "kiss me quick."

Scarlet-Faced Poles May Call Off Trials

POZNAN, Poland (CP)—Rumors raced through Poznan yesterday that the Polish government plans to stop the trials resulting from the June 28 "bread and freedom" riots here.

These rumors were based on the belief that the Communist government has been sorely embarrassed by the bold and dramatic testimony given by some defendants against miserable living conditions, lack of political freedom and extortion of confessions by police brutality.

Martin Lauds Panel Navy Band to Play At Arthritis Forum

The Royal Canadian Navy will make a musical contribution to the community service being rendered by Greater Victoria's doctors and The Daily Colonist in the free, public medical forum on arthritis Friday evening at Central Junior High School.

The band of HMCS Naden will provide music from 7:30 p.m. until 8, through the courtesy of Rear-Admiral H. F. Pullen, Flag Officer Pacific Coast, and Commodore P. D. Budge, commanding officer of HMCS Naden.

At 8, a panel of five doctors will begin its discussion of arthritis, bringing the audience, in easily understood language, the most up-to-date and accurate information on this painful and often crippling ailment.

'Lion Girl' Hunted

NEW DELHI (AP)—Indian police invaded a lion-invested forest in Bombay State to track down a "lion girl" seen by villagers.

Reporters said yesterday the girl, described by villagers as a naked wild woman with unkempt hair, was seen near the edge of the forest on the outskirts of the village of Khambha.

Villagers approached her, offering food, but the girl, muttering strange animal noises, immediately turned and ran back into the forest, said the reports.

Examining Malahat wreckage from which they had dragged a girl to safety are OS Roy Overton, AB Brian Tucker and OS

Afterthoughts Bring Switch on New Tax

Hopes Gone For Seamen

Members of the Saanich delegation to last week's UBCM convention have "revised their thinking" on the overwhelmingly approved resolution calling for a municipal services tax of possibly $30 to be levied on non-property owners.

Reeve Arthur Ash said yesterday that the resolution "caught us all off balance."

Originally supporters of the resolution, the reeve, Coun. George Austin and Coun. Ainslie Worthington said they would now oppose any move to implement such a tax in Saanich.

At the Penticton session the Victoria city delegation led a tiny minority vehemently opposed to a tax they termed "just the old road and poll tax under a new name."

"The tax had some merit to it," said the reeve, explaining that a person with many children who rents a home in Saanich "doesn't begin to pay for the services supplied for him which the taxpayer, a home owner, is required to pay."

More than balancing this argument, he said, was the possibility the tax would cost more to collect than money collected, and in many instances it would be uncollectable.

"Considering the troubles experienced in collecting the old poll tax, we now feel it would be an impractical tax to implement," he said.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The search was called off just before noon yesterday for three missing crew members of a coastal freighter which capsized and sank at 2:45 a.m. Saturday in Howe Sound.

A spokesman for the RCAF rescue co-ordination centre in Vancouver said the area was covered thoroughly with no trace of the missing men or the 107-foot Triggerfish, owned by Tidewater Shipping Co. of Vancouver.

The men—deckhand Boyne Hays, second engineer Chris Jorgensen and a third hand from Triggerfish—were presumed dead, after an RCAF Canso amphibian and eight boats combed the choppy waters.

The disaster occurred in murky darkness just off Point Atkinson.

The Triggerfish went under in a matter of minutes after pitching over while her crew was stowing loading booms on her port side.

Five of the eight crewmen aboard the stricken vessel survived her sinking. They were picked up by the tug Hornblower and taken to North Vancouver General Hospital. Two of them had been trapped by debris and carried down with the ship, but managed to float to safety when the deck cargo bobbed to the surface.

Officials believed the accident was caused by a cargo shift in the ship's hold.

No Paper Tuesday

The Colonist staff, like other Victorians, takes a holiday Monday and there will be no paper Tuesday morning. Wednesday's editions will cover the full range of weekend events.

Also Liquor...

Presbyterians Immune to Presley

The basic foundation—the Presbyterian Church gives its youths "can neither be rocked or rolled by anything Elvis Presley does."

The man who said so yesterday was Rev. Dr. Finlay G. Stewart, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, visiting Victoria to preach in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this morning.

But the Presbyterian Church would never lay down a doctrine on Elvis Presley, or for that matter, on liquor or Sunday sport, said Dr. Stewart.

"Our doctrine is the priesthood of all believers. A Presbyterian is both interpreter and confessor."

A Presbyterian, Dr. Stewart said, believes in the dignity of man as a child of God, and makes his own decisions as to whether Sunday sport, Elvis Presley or liquor are compatible with God.

Dr. Stewart is minister of a large church in Kitchener, Ont. "We have a tremendously cosmopolitan congregation, with nearly all national backgrounds," he said.

In many parts of Canada, Presbyterian churches are crowded with other nationalities than the Scots, Dr. Stewart said.

"These people have chosen the Presbyterian communion because they are that kind of person. A Presbyterian is a doctrinal emphasis, a kind of person and a kind of government."

"To be a good Presbyterian, you have to be really conscious of your sin. We preach the judgment of God before we preach the love of God."

That is why the Presbyterian Church has never been as successful as the Salvation Army in helping the down-and-out, said Dr. Stewart. The down-and-out have had enough judgment from others and from the law.

"We do a good job for those who have done well," he said. "The Presbyterian has confidence, a sense of security because he knows nothing can happen that God and he can't get through."

REV. DR. FINLAY G. STEWART

Each church has its place in Christianity, Dr. Stewart said. "The power of the Protestant movement is its diversity."

"The Presbyterian Church in the province of British Columbia is on the march today," he said. "No doubt it will influence the life of the province to an immeasurable degree in the next 20 years."

"The power of the Protestant movement is its diversity," he said. And because with its doctrine of the priesthood of all believers, the very opposite of the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope, the Presbyterian Church is "diversified in its witness but co-operative in its efforts."

... And Sunday Sport

A former pupil of South Park School, Victoria High School and Victoria College, Roy A. Logan, was admitted to the bar of British Columbia at a recent ceremony in Vancouver.

ALLABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

I DON'T like doing more than one thing at a time. I am capable of doing several things at once, in a fuzzy kind of way. A man must have this ability, if he is to survive in such a chaotic world. But I don't like it.

There are occasions when a man trapped in a room with a bunch of people must be able to catch the sense of two distinct gossip conversations, in case he misses something; and at the same time hear the 5 p.m. news, while simultaneously looking outside and filling away for future reference the fact that the infant son is harvesting the last of the ground.

Magnetic Crackle

Like a cheap and poorly installed television set, my equipment for doing several things at once will work as long as conditions are perfect. But quite a small disturbance—such as one of the gossipers turning down the volume of her conversation to keep a secret, or the electro-magnetic crackle of a passing blunder—will fog over the entire mental screen.

As a result, I not only fail to receive some of the signals, but I lose all of them, and can't, to save my life, remember what happened in the last 10 minutes.

Even when I manage simultaneous reception, the effort gives me a headache. The sight of those executives in the movies who handle four telephones at once moves me, not

Crash Hurts Seven

Seven persons were injured, none seriously, and two cars totally wrecked in a collision yesterday at Royal Oak Avenue and Patricia Bay Highway.

Noelmann Bellandinger, 19, Work Point Barracks, still in hospital at HMCS Naden last night, was believed in good condition.

The accident occurred when he attempted to turn left to Royal Oak and his car was in collision with one driven by Tom Acheson, 22, 725 Queens.

Acheson and the others suffered only minor injuries and received treatment. Passengers in the first car were Richard Mounce, 27, Work Point; Garry Primrose, 18, Work Point; and Laurel Desrosiers, 20, no fixed address.

IN SECOND CAR

In the second car were Victor Garland, 22, and Jim MacMillan, 22, both of HMCS Naden.

In a 4:30 a.m. accident on Admirals, near Cannery Hill, a car went out of control and left the road.

Four people, suffered cuts and bruises. And at 6:30 a.m. Giles Bryant, 25, 415 Chester, lost control of his truck at Tyee in Victoria West.

He crashed into a pole, spilling milk and broken bottles into the street, and was treated for face lacerations.

But what is the value of the job to the social worker?

Pills Help Control Diabetes

CHICAGO (BUP) — A Chicago scientist has disclosed two new insulin substitutes which can be swallowed like aspirin.

Dr. Rachmiel Levine of Michael Reese Medical Centre said the pills have been successful in controlling certain types of diabetes.

He warned, however, that the drugs cannot be replaced for general use until they undergo further tests for possible ill after-effects.

The drugs, called orinase and BZ-55, were developed in Germany. They act to lower blood sugar by stimulating cells in the pancreas to produce insulin.

This meeting is being held in order that the public may better understand what our Fellowship means and how it works. Magistrate H. C. Hall will occupy the chair.

all of them as FCS director.

Social workers, he explained, feel that "physical and social misery prevent people from self-achievement and what we are engaged in is the old battle to free the minds of men."

Everyone is threatened by possibilities of war and economic instability, but those who come to social workers are burdened also by the influences of heredity and environment.

"What can you do with people like congenital morons, with people warped by disease and other misadventures," asked Mr. Woodsworth.

The answer of social workers, he said, is that "in spite of the apparent difficulties, we must continue to try to free people to give them dignity."

The FCS director added that "the community must be ready to provide the basic support for people the funds to provide financial, physical, social and medical assistance which is needed so badly."

Family and Children's Service, a Red Feather agency, is the only group authorized in this area to perform essential child welfare services prescribed by law.

Chemicals Kill Lawn Clover

By M. V. CHESNUT, F.R.H.S.

Lawn Weeder—(J.M. Herlot Bay)

Sodium chlorate is a most efficient weedkiller, but you can't use it on lawn weeds as it would kill the grass along with the weeds. Your best bet for the eradication of the clover in your lawn would be a mixture of 2.4-D and 2,4,5-T, sold under the name of Brushkill or Brushbane.

Your lawn is evidently rich in calcium and phosphorus, otherwise the clover wouldn't have moved in. To keep your lawn clear of clover after the weedkiller has been used, you will have to reduce the alkalinity of the lawn soil.

This can be done by using nothing but sulphate of ammonia for fertilizing your lawn except for the first dressing of the year in early spring, which should be a complete balanced fertilizer.

Tree Cavity—W.E.C. Sidney: The cavity in the trunk of your apple tree, caused when a heavily-laden main branch tore away, should be filled with concrete. Clean up the wound thoroughly first, trimming the edges smoothly and chiselling away any weather or rotted portions inside the hole until there is nothing but clean wood.

Stud the inside surface of the cavity with nails, driven in for only half their length. This will provide anchorage for the concrete. Then mix up a batch of cement-patching grade of Readycrete is good, and can be bought in small amounts—and fill up the hole, making the surface nice and smooth, and even with the inner surface of the bark.

Saint Paulia Pests—(L.F. Glen Lake): The aphid on your African violets could have come in the house on other plants or even on cut flowers. No fertilizers or tonic could give rise to them.

It isn't easy to treat houseplants for parasitic pests, as the most effective insecticides are not very suitable for use indoors. Malathion, for instance, probably the best insecticide for aphids, leaves a smell like the sewer had backed up.

If there are not too many of the pests, you might try hand-picking the pests. If you pull a coarse woollen sock over your hand and stroke the stems and leaves of your plants gently, you can entangle a lot of the aphids in the hairy wool, and a little persistence should soon clean up your plants without resorting to poisonous sprays.

If the infestation has gone too far for hand treatment, you'd better load up the garden sprayer (or an old Windex bottle) with Malathion, move the plants out to the back porch, and cover them with a fine spray, paying particular attention to the backs of the leaves.

Be careful when you wet the leaves; it is only single drops of cold water that damage the leaves of African violets, and a misty spray of warm water is harmless.

Window Boxes—(M.L.L. Cadboro Bay): Yes, you must certainly use bulbs in your window boxes, and they make a very fine display for April and May, after which they can be transplanted to a row in the vegetable garden to finish their growth and replaced with summer flowering annuals, geraniums, etc.

Butter not mix up the varieties too much, as you want all the bulbs to come into flower at the same time. For a really eye-catching display, I suggest you plant the whole box with Prince of Austria tulips, a brilliant orange-red or with Kaiserkrone, scarlet petals edged in yellow. You can put the bulbs in now.

Cables made from INCO COPPER help bring you electricity... and provide jobs for Canadians

It takes thousands of miles of power cable to carry all the electricity Canadians use. And nearly half of the copper used in Canada's power cables comes from Inco. Through all the processing operations, this copper stays in Canada to help provide employment for Canadian men and women.

1. At Inco, Canadian workmen mine, mill, smelt and refine the ore. About 18,000 people are employed by Inco in Canada.

2. Refined copper is used in Canada for the manufacture of wire and cable. Several thousand more people are employed in this work.

3. The copper wire and cable goes to power companies where it is installed by Canadian workmen.

From Inco copper, Canadian industries manufacture hundreds of useful products—thus helping provide employment for many thousands of men and women in Canada.

In Relief of Suffering

THE Daily Colonist is happy in its association with the Victoria Medical Society in co-sponsorship of the public forum on arthritis to be held in the auditorium of Central Junior High School on Friday evening. Disabling is a cruel fate. If there is anything that can be done to relieve it or to alleviate some of the suffering which falls to the lot of the arthritic victim this should be placed before the public. The expert panel of physicians who will conduct the forum require no introduction in this community. What they may have to say will comprise a summation of today's tested knowledge of the disease.

Victoria is probably more concerned than most cities in Canada with the extremely painful effects of arthritis and the kindred range of rheumatic complaints. The sea-level climate, a larger than normal percentage of elderly sufferers and the constant influx of more people have led to a concentration of a considerable number of handicapped individuals here. The community is doing its best for them, but that is pitifully little when all is considered. If there is comfort for them in the modern advances of medical science now is the time to set it forward. The dissemination of accurate knowledge on the disease should prove a long first step. May there be many more.

At the proceedings special arrangements will be made for the benefit of those who are crippled, to see that they are made comfortable and given the best opportunity of hearing the discussion. There will also be plenty of room for others more fortunate in their present health. A calm and informed discussion under the guidance of the Victoria Medical Society may mean the beginning of a happier life for some few individuals. Such at least is our hope, and expectation.

Unlikely Coalition

EFFORTS to create a composite political party in British Columbia of those defeated in the recent provincial election are interesting but unlikely to lead very far. If the idea is to build up united strength in the hope of beating the Social Credit party four years hence, some hitherto undiscovered political catalyst will have to be found to change the character of the remainder. On the other hand if the intention is merely to pull together for the duration of the present Legislature, it is difficult to believe that the coalition of so small a minority would act as an additional spur or deterrent to the government. The CCF already has all but three of the opposition seats; it almost invariably has the support of the lone Independent-Labor member, and that of the two Liberals would not add appreciable weight.

Besides holding all the aces at the moment, the CCF has a history of unyielding adherence to its own principles and policies. The socialist party is not likely for the sake of temporary expediency to turn partly Liberal, Conservative or anything else. To form an effective coalition the rest would have to abandon their tenets and turn CCF without qualification. One cannot imagine the CCF accepting them on any other terms; and one can also admire the CCF for that.

It should be remembered that the CCF has consistently abstained from coalitions with any other parties, and refused to enter one in British Columbia even during the emergency of war.

If the Liberals and Conservatives ever reach the point where as political parties they are willing to let themselves be absorbed by the CCF, even with the proviso "for provincial purposes only," their decline in the B.C. field will reach bottom.

A Handsome Rake-Off

ONE thing the projected increase in the price of liquor has done is to displace the role of the middleman—in this case the tax collector. With no other commodity is the consumer "milked," to employ an anomalous but popular term which just as easily could be "bilked," to the same drastic extent. Since the drinker comes in for periodic moral condemnation, hands being lifted in horror when a statistic cites a seemingly vast sum expended nationally in liquor consumption, it is worthwhile noting the facts.

These actually are startling, or would be with any other commodity. Roughly 70 per cent of the cost of liquor to the consuming public goes to fattening federal and provincial treasuries, through excise and sales taxes and liquor board markups. Most of this is plain, easy, although surely exorbitant profit. As usually presented the national drinking bill is therefore greatly misleading; only about one-quarter the amount cited is actually spent on liquor. The rest is a handsome rake-off for the various governments. The drinker is not such a wasteful person after all.

Indeed he might be classed as a bulwark of the country, for assuredly if the tax millions raised through the consumption of liquor were not available other taxation would be increased or invoked to make up the deficiency, in which case the additional load would be spread over non-drinkers as well as drinkers. The consumers of liquor are therefore doing the rest of the community a good turn. If the truth were acknowledged, but they pay heavily for this enforced generosity. As a matter of fact governments in their secret hearts must bless them even while mulcting them to the limit.

Halloween Begging

A suggestion made at a PTA meeting last week indicates that a lot of people in this district are concerned about Halloween. The wholesale begging and the "pranks" which are really vandalism mitigated by indulgent parental smiles—would be far better stopped and if the PTA suggestion comes to fruition, and can make the change then we support it.

The plan proposed is that children, instead of asking for handouts, should collect for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

Children are not sent round to beg for Christmas presents in December, nor to solicit Easter presents in the spring. Why then do parents sanction the begging at the end of October? Probably because—and this is the only reason we can think of—it has always been done and that to stop a child from indulging in the senseless business of "trick or treat" requires more moral courage than most of us have.

On this business of collecting, if it must be then let it be for something that is worthwhile.

Careless About Fire

Canada's per capita fire loss is one of the highest in any country in the world, with one house catching fire every 30 seconds. Most of these are caused by human carelessness.

The convicted "firebug," who through incendiary means costs Canada thousands of dollars and many lives, has a careless counterpart who unthinkingly tosses away lighted cigarettes and matches, smokes in bed and doesn't worry about children playing with matches.

With the winter heating season coming on, firemen can expect the usual rush of "turnover" fires which originate when a careless husband empties hot ashes and coals into wooden or cardboard containers or dumps them on the basement floor next to wooden walls, old newspapers and rubbish, and thus accounts for one out of every 11 home fires.

Diminishing Traffic

It must be concluded that fewer shipments than ever on this Island are being moved by rail. If this is not so, why has not the E & N been extended north to Campbell River, a construction boom town which is gaining permanent industry? Nearer home, why was a railway spur never built to service Harmac?

Recently, elimination of the passenger service to the Alberni was mentioned.

If these factors together do not add up to stagnation it will be most surprising. The railway company is not to blame. It cannot halt the certain trend of the times, on V.I. as elsewhere, to greater use of sea, road and air.

Voice in the Cabinet

Elevation of Mayor Earle Westwood of Nanaimo to the post of minister of trade and industry is a compliment by Premier W. A. C. Bennett to both the newly-elected member and to the Gulf Islanders whom he will represent in the legislature.

Not since the days of Hon. Geo. S. Pearson have the islands been represented by a cabinet minister. The progressive population and commercial growth which they are currently enjoying should be advanced further by the premier's move.

The Weekly Newspaper

This being National Newspaper Week, we believe it is worthy of note to mention that weekly newspapers across Canada hold a place of increasing importance.

Your weekly newspaper lives with the people it serves. Its prosperity and welfare are linked with the welfare of the area, and as a result, you will find it in there boosting every worthwhile project in every part of the district. It is in the district and of the district, and its interest in the everyday folk who make up the news is as sincere today as it was when the first weekly newspaper rolled off the press.

Important Announcement

Two announcements by the provincial government during the past week have important implications for Ladysmith: The appointment of Nanaimo's Earl Westwood as minister of trade and industry and the announcement by Hon. Kenneth Kiernan, newly appointed minister of mines and natural resources, pledging the government to the establishment of a steel industry in this province.

There is a great need on Vancouver Island for secondary industries, particularly in the central-island area where the economy is at present dominated by the large forest industries. Hon. Earl Westwood, because of his knowledge of, and interest in this area, must be well aware of this situation, and it is a reasonable assumption that he will try to do something to rectify it.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sailing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

MACLEAN'S reproduces a nice panel typical of paintings from the National Gallery's cold storage.

They are part of the large collection of canvas Canadians—the finest in the world—seemingly—much of which has remained hidden because there was no wall space to show them. Happily by next year the Gallery will move into a new commodious building in Ottawa and there should then be ample room to give this pictorial heritage its due.

I was intrigued by one specimen, however, cited as the "abstract visualization of a man's soul." So far as I know the human soul has never been photographed but has remained, like the panel I mention, out of sight. One has therefore some difficulty in making comparisons but this picture, were it not for the caption, could easily be mistaken for an aerial view of Los Angeles, freeways and all, as spied through colored spectacles.

Take away the caption of course and not even the painter's closest buddy would know what the picture was supposed to represent. And if a man's soul really looks like this the good Lord help us all.

I was mesmerized when I read the Dodgers' first six runs in that 13-8 game described as "uneventful." Thinking in my innocence that if a batter slams a home run that scores himself and two other blokes he had earned his backslaps all right. Then it was impressed on me by a colleague, patiently, that baseball is the acme of cause and effect, and that the batter in question wouldn't have been at the plate at all at this precise and particular moment had some Johnny earlier in the game not made an error.

An error by a fellow on the other side, too, it seems, a circumstance that deepened my confusion.

I finally grasped the proposition that unearned runs have to do with the pitcher and not with the chaps who make them, but I confess there are times when baseball seems as tortuous to me as so-called modernistic paintings. Baseball has become so mathematical it threatens to drown the drama which should be its main credo.

I dare say I am like the painting I mentioned which is also explained as "a moody kind of visual poetry." I am moody in truth and feeling far from poetic. You see in our office sweep I had the Yankees to win and what do they do? They throw away a six-run lead! They and not Brooklyn, then, are the real "Bums."

I see where a doctor says an ulcer is an employee's badge of honor, a judgment that gives me pause for slight thought. At its face value this might mean I am not too good an employee since I don't have an ulcer (ouch wood) and I hope my superiors haven't been taking too much notice of his words.

Ulcers are not funny, especially to those who have them, and one can easily subscribe to the thesis that the over-conscientious man is potentially the ulcer-type. If the cure for an ulcer is to change one's environment, however, it is not conveniently come by. A man with an ulcer cannot easily throw up his job in order to cure it, for instance; the result might give him another ulcer.

The tragedy—and it is tragedy sometimes—is that circumstances often prevent medical advice given honestly in the abstract to be ignored. Doctors know this well enough, but often must be in the position of having to suggest a treatment they are aware simply cannot be followed.

Letter from London

Everyone a Specialist Nowadays

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THERE is an apocryphal story concerning an old doctor in the great tradition of the family general practitioner who was informed that his son, also a doctor, was going to specialize. The old man asked his son if it was correct that he was going in for "ear, nose and throat." The son replied simply, "Nose." "Well, well," said the old doctor, "I suppose you'll decide which nostril later?"

We have almost reached the point where a medical officer of health will call in a specialist before answering a question as to whether a disease is infectious or contagious.

Our national health service has turned its general practitioners into diagnosticians, which may have the advantage to the patient that fewer doctors bury their mistakes—instead they are banded about like the bird in the badminton game from specialist to specialist.

Specialization has crept into everything. We no longer have postmen in England. We have "delivery officers" and "collecting officers"—even though they may be the same people at different hours of the same day.

ferent hours of the same day.

It seems that the cultured Englishman and Englishwoman is on the way out. Culture is at a discount. The people who had an intelligent interest in art, literature and music have become old fashioned. These days you are an opera fan, a balletomane, a television addict or a devotee of the theatre. The person prepared to patronize all these things is dated if not archaic.

Not very long ago it was unthinkable that a doctor, a lawyer, a head teacher, a clergyman or a university professor would not have intelligent interest in art, music, literature and even philosophy. Such people, classified broadly as intelligent and cultured, had an interest in the things of the spirit—some still have but it is surprising how the numbers are declining.

A head teacher with surprisingly little knowledge of current affairs told me that the change in education was frightening. "I feel that I am one of the last of the old brigade. We were brought up to believe that the fundamental purpose of education was to open the door to intelligent and cultured living. Parents and pupils are more concerned today with making a living than how to live. We have to busy ourselves with vocational guidance, with the jobs which pay best and the careers with a future. I find that I am losing touch with the things which really matter."

The sub-divisions are endless. There was a time when a person was a musician or merely an appreciator of music. That day is ending. You are an opera fan, a chamber music addict, or a symphony swain. You have your specialty even for listening. Conductors specialize in particular forms and particular composers. The musical all-rounder is rare and usually regarded as inherently inefficient.

It seems as though the human mind has reached saturation point. The acquisition of the knowledge necessary to earn a competent living is so complicated that it leaves little or no time for the conventional cultural pursuits.

At the other end of the social scale mechanics and automation are creating the mental vacuum which is creating teddy boys, hoodlums and non-participants in sport and almost every other activity. These people, who were the craftsmen, are the victims of scientific genius and machine craftsmanship. The real craftsmanship of the age belongs to the man who designs machine tools.

Just as the machine makes the things which previously demanded a craftsman's skill, so we are developing a race of professional thinkers. The great majority of our politicians are professionals. They call in "specialist advice" and do our thinking for us. Problems have become too complicated for the ordinary mortal to venture an opinion upon them. We have pressure groups to look after specialist needs. We have reached the point where the suburban gardener is asking for specialist advice from the ministry of agriculture—and getting it. The old traditional method of trial and error is too stupid in a streamlined world. Lord Dewart's famous aphorism "as a man sows so will he reap—except the amateur gardener" has almost lost its meaning.

It seems that in the struggle to make a living a lot of people are forgetting how to live. We are all striving for a niche in a world of perfectionists. We are afraid to make a squeak on the violin because we can get something really good on a record; we are almost afraid to play cricket because we will not be up to test match standard; we dare not try to sing without advice from our singing teacher. And why bother? There are specialists to do our singing for us.

I spend most of my working day talking to specialists. These days it is the journalist's job to milk other people's brains. It may be chastening as a means of appreciating one's own abysmal ignorance, but it serves one useful purpose. It enables one to appreciate the joys of making bad music, or solving the affairs of the world over the bar counter, or drinking in the wisdom of a natural philosopher who cannot read or write, or spending an evening with a family experimenting with the lost art of conversation.

But one cannot escape for long. The morning mail brings an intimation that if I want to know anything about beer all I have to do is telephone a certain number and ask for the press relations officer. He would be happy to tell me anything about beer, historical, technical or any other way. And to think that in my youth we were just happy drinking—the stuff!

OF GREGORY CLARK

EDMUND Ware Smith, author of a recent book of hilarious short stories, "The One-Eyed Poacher and the Maine Woods," has come forth with a new word that is most illuminating at this time in the world's history. The word is the "wilderness wish."

As the late Bernard de Voto says in the preface to Ware Smith's book: "All of us are born with what Mr. Smith calls the wilderness wish. All of us feel it repeatedly. In fact, all of us feel it often."

Letters to the Editor

First Girl Guides

In the Oct. 2 Colonist, there is a letter to Miss Hilda Leighton and the Girl Guides' Association. I am sorry to know of Miss Leighton's illness and I wish her a speedy recovery. She has done much valuable work for the Victoria and District Girl Guides.

However I wish to contradict one of Mrs. Rawlings' statements. She says Miss Leighton started the first Girl Guides in Victoria. That is not so, for I belonged to the Girl Guide troop in 1912 and 1913 under the leadership of Mrs. Castleton and her daughter Miss F. M. Castleton.

Our uniforms were the regulation navy serge (very itchy around the neck), skirt and blouse, but we wore regulation Boy Scout hats and belts. We did various drills with staves with colored pennants and were drilled by Sgt. Stacey of the 5th Regiment. We were taught first aid, scouting and knots, drills, club swinging and even crocheting and knitting.

We had many pleasant gatherings of parents and friends who used to come to our little concerts and contests of the youngsters. The Guides competed with the Scouts on their first aid work and many of the lessons I learned in that Girl Guide group stood me in good stead over the years. I had only one complaint at the time: I was that little Edith Spouse who was so small for her age that I used to be used for the patient to be carried on a coat between two sticks.

We used to do Maypole dancing and gave time to various garden parties, etc., for charitable causes. One big one I remember was on Rockland Avenue, and I remember the time the whole group of Scouts and Guides turned out in full force to make a guard of honor for Lieutenant Governor Patterson, who laid the cornerstone of the new First Congregational Church, which is now the First Baptist Church on the corner of Mason and Quadra Streets.

Katie Law, sister of the Saanich fire chief, Sarah and Mary Watson are some of the girls who belonged to the troop and I wonder how many more are still living in Victoria. Miss Castleton was a very hard worker and helped the girls far beyond the need of a Guide leader. She was for many years a member of the city hall staff and I always will remember her with the kindest thoughts in my earnest endeavors with the first Girl Guides in Victoria.

Buying Protection

Listening to "Tel-Opinion" on a Victoria radio station, the subject being the control of lawlessness on Halloween, I was much perturbed to realize that what the bulk of those calling in were advocating was nothing less than that great American curse "buying protection." One can readily visualize the reaction of any vicious teen-age gang leader, "Give 'em the works and they'll offer to buy us off."

The answer does not lie in pampering these young hoodlums with free parties, free sports facilities and the like. In any case, such activities would be patronized principally by the decent elements who do not need to be weaned from the streets.

What is needed is a two-fold penalty for wilful destructiveness or viciousness. Empower the police to use a good heavy strap right on the spot upon any hoodlum they or any decent citizen can lay hands on. Follow this up with a bill for damages presented to the parents and compel the perpetrator of any offence against property to make good the damage under police supervision.

The present attitude savors too much of the spate of child psychology lecturing which has given an excuse to too many parents to shirk the responsibility to discipline their offspring, greatly to the detriment of so-called "civilized" society.

Potential gangsters should be stopped in their tracks — not coddled and censored to behave. Let's try to get back to that inherent respect for law and order and the rights of others, which is the basis of any law-abiding and peaceful society. Such respect can be instilled only at the home level by precept and example. It cannot be purchased by bribery or any other means.

Municipal Investors Not Eager

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The plight of municipalities requiring funds for urgent purposes is one of the toughest associated with the present high cost of borrowing.

Saanich is only one of many across Canada to be caught in the policy mesh of the Bank of Canada.

At the moment few municipalities could hope to borrow at less than a 5½ per cent yield.

NIGEL H. GUNN

to the lender, or if they wanted to keep the interest rate low they would have to accept a considerable discount price on the offering.

The stark reality is that municipalities, however, is that they do not, in Canada at least, enjoy the confidence or enthusiasm of the average investor.

This is due to many causes, but the chief is that most of them are heavily involved in new projects which overtest the taxing capacity of the community.

The average municipality was able to do very little necessary improvement or even upkeep in the first half of the forties, money was available, but labor and materials were not.

As a result the period 1932-46 was one in which municipalities fell hopelessly behind, and found themselves in poor shape—with out making sharp tax increases—to face up to the astonishing post-war boom.

In former rural areas such as Saanich, the sudden discovery that septic tanks are out, that roads and water services are inadequate, has made the growth situation an extremely painful one.

With vast new sums required, borrowing even at cheap rates is not the whole answer. Tax rates have to be increased as well, and councillors don't get elected if they stand on that ticket.

Neglected Child

As Nigel Gunn, president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada said in Victoria this week, they are the neglected child of the investment field.

Although they have the first charge on the land, municipalities vary widely in their appeal as an investment medium.

Those growing areas which have much to do to catch up, are probably first-class propositions on an extremely long term, but borrowers are not keen to participate when they knew that more and more issues will be required to keep the district moving ahead during the next decade.

It has been suggested that if the Greater Victoria municipalities were to amalgamate, much of the Saanich trouble would evaporate.

While Mr. Gunn agreed this would be the case, he could hardly see that the taxpayers of Oak Bay would willingly give up their own preferred position for a metropolitan area which could not possibly hope to borrow on such favorable terms as Oak Bay does presently.

Mr. Gunn pointed out that the formation of Metropolitan Toronto—where he himself lives—had probably been a wise long-term step but that it had been an expensive one for those living in Toronto City itself where the services were at a much more complete level than those of the outlying area assumed into the metropolis.

To make matters more difficult for the municipalities the tendency is to place more and more of the tax dollar in the hands of the senior governments—first federal and then provincial.

The subsequent doling out of allowances to the municipalities by these governments is satisfactory only if it is adequate to meet the fast-changing demands of the municipalities.

U.K. Price Fixing To Be Unlawful For First Time

The United Kingdom has appointed a registrar and a new court, with power of a high court of justice, to enforce the Restrictive Trade Practices Act which became law two months ago.

Under the new act all restrictive trade practices must be filed with the registrar and the new court will decide which are legal under the provisions of the act.

The first order under the new act now before the Commons will deal with restrictions on prices and collective discrimination on a large scale.

Price-fixing for the first time will become unlawful in the United Kingdom.

ISSUES POSTPONED

One effect of the Monday-Tuesday market break which sent the averages toppling by nearly 15 points, was to bring the launching of new financing to a temporary halt.

Grain Chief

Roy W. Milner, 64, has been appointed chief of the board of grain commissioners. He formerly was federal transport controller and at one time was president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. —(CPC).

Not even the sharp recovery which continued until the end of the week convinced underwriters that the time is ripe for taking on new commitments. Among the major Canadian financings postponed are Trans-Canada Pipeline and Inland Natural Gas.

HEADS CN DEPARTMENT

Canadian National Railways has appointed Harold C. Greensides as its chief architect, and G. F. Lithgow as his assistant. Mr. Greensides has been with the railway since 1940 and has been actively associated with such CNR projects as the new Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal, and the main building at Jasper Park Lodge following the fire of 1952.

He was formerly with New York Central Railroad. He studied architecture at Toronto and Columbia Universities.

FUND ASSETS GROW

Canada General Fund (1954) Ltd. reports its net assets at the close of its fiscal year, Aug. 31, were $77,745,088, equal to $13.54 a share on 5,740,828 shares outstanding.

This was an increase from the $63,616,751 net assets of Aug. 31, 1955, when the value per share was $11.84 on 5,637,242 shares.

Number of shareholders increased during the year from 26,000 to 29,000.

CLAIMS ACQUIRED

Salmo Prince Mines Ltd. of Vancouver has acquired a 12-claim nickel-copper prospect four miles north of Lake Athabasca in an area where 1,000 claims have recently been staked.

It is in the southernmost part of a 75 miles belt running north-easterly from Lake Athabasca into the N.W. Territory where Canadian Nickel, a subsidiary of International Nickel, has considerable holdings.

Repetition of the record that saw $400,000,000 in mineral wealth taken from Cobalt, Ont., area is probable as drilling and drifting uncover lodes of silver and cobalt rivaling those of the early 1900s. Here is a sample of silver, being examined by geologist Ed Campbell, which assays 21,000 ounces of silver per ton. (CPC).

Curbs Cause Friction

Financing restrictions placed on British residents wanting to visit Canada is held as a disturbing factor in the relationship between the two countries, according to William McAdam, B.C. Agent General in London at present visiting Victoria.

Mr. McAdam says he has made representations to the British treasury to increase the amount British people may bring with them to Canada when they are on social visits.

The British treasury allows only £35 ($100) for such purpose and then only when the would-be visitor to Canada can prove he is going to visit a close relative who has extended an invitation.

SUM INADEQUATE

The sum is hopelessly inadequate and places British visitors in an invidious position among their Canadian friends.

"British people may, if they want, make two annual trips to Russia and take with them £100 each time," said Mr. McAdam. "But when they want to go to Canada they are allowed a mere pittance."

The B.C. agent general bases his case on the desires of many British people whose daughters married Canadian servicemen during the war.

CEMENTING TIES

Mr. McAdam did not think it would cost the U.K. treasury more than £10,000,000 a year, and even if dollars are tight, he believes the cost would be well worth while in cementing family ties between the two countries.

During his recent visit to Victoria A. R. W. Low, minister of overseas trade in the British cabinet told him that the question of permitting British funds to be used for Canadian social visits was under review.

At the moment the U.K. treasury sanctions dollar allotments only to business visitors to Canada and the United States.

New Ferry Could Start Controversy

By HARRY YOUNG

It is a little difficult to go all the way with those who want a new ferry service between Saanich and the mainland.

It seems to me that such a move can only lessen the importance and use of Victoria harbor. Quite clearly if ferries use Sidney or some other Saanich peninsula terminal, there will be fewer ferries coming into Victoria.

It may be all right for some merchants and distributors on the south end of Vancouver Island to have a service that would handle truck loads to obviate the long road haul from Nanaimo. But it could tempt the CPR to cut out Victoria altogether as a port of call except for the three or four months of the tourist season.

Worse still, it might encourage the railway to take its Coast Service head offices, maintenance and repair shops to another site. Nanaimo would like to have them for one, that I know.

The Harbor Development Group which is renewing its bid for institution of a Saanich terminal, should ponder the possible consequences of their strategy.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

I watched on television Oral Roberts, visiting the Philippines on a faith-healing mission. It was a pitiful sight to see him surrounded by thousands of sick and emaciated natives. The television showed only a few minutes of his work. First they showed a bit of his preaching, then his platform healing where he gave individual attention to sick patients, finally he was shown working through the crowds touching sick persons on their heads.

His preaching was translated. It was very simple and certainly Christ-centred. His healing undoubtedly had built up a high state of excitement. How much actual healing was achieved is impossible for me to say.

A religious journal takes him to task, contending that there is much delusion about the cures he claims. They also criticize him because of his large income. I do not believe either is justified. Roberts emphasizes that it is God and not himself that works the cure. If only a fraction of the good is actually authentic, his healing work is still valuable.

Influential Teachings

There are other directions in which great personalities are re-discovering and re-emphasizing gospel truths. All have their critics. One is Karl Barth, the tremendous theologian in Switzerland, who has recast the old, to the great credit of God. He has emphasized the necessity for God's self-revelation.

"Whatever thy mind comes at God is not that."

His teaching is a revulsion from debilitating humanism and sentimental liberal theology. Certainly his teachings have become dominant in Scottish theology and profoundly influential throughout the United States as well as the rest of the world.

Billy Graham's primary teaching has been to recall men and women to the Bible as the Word of God, and to the fundamentals of the saving work of Jesus Christ. His teaching is a rebellion against the moralistic, mamby-pamby preaching which had omitted the central essential work of Christ the Redeemer, the reality of the Gospel.

Norman Vincent Peale represents a dominant strain that permeates American thought—that if you think right everything is right, that all your needs will be supplied. He has been greatly ridiculed.

Each One Teach One

The wonderful, saintly Frank Laubach illustrates a still further direction in which the teachings of the Gospel reach out to a needy world.

A brilliant scholar, he became a missionary and his latest project is to carry to the hundreds of millions of the illiterate in the world the knowledge of how to read and write. His results of "Each one teach one" campaign have been absolutely fantastic. Already he has taught tens of millions to read and write.

Laubach could represent the vast energy that the Christian church is pouring into the missionary enterprises of schools, colleges, agricultural institutions, hospitals, medical training centres and all the various types of effort calculated to lift the depressed, unhappy, hopeless, and desperate millions to their feet.

All these men and the great number who follow in their footsteps undergo bitter criticism. I would say to their critics, "Show us what you are doing, demonstrate your faith in a superior way that we may follow it." For my part I believe that all these men are right. None of them has the whole truth, but their central truths are dynamic and good. I believe that there are miracles of healing, that the mind controls the body, that to think right is to be right. I too believe that sickness is caused by wrong thinking; I believe that Jesus Christ is the greatest fact of our world; I believe that we need more reverence for God. These men have a real religion. In these men the Gospel

Man's Tissue Craves Drugs

By PIERRE C. FRALEY

PHILADELPHIA—Back in the early days of this century, Sir William Osler, one of the great physicians of the times, said:

"Man has an inborn craving for medicine. Heroic dosing for several generations has given him the habit."

Thus the desire to take medicine is one feature that distinguishes man, the animal, from his fellow creatures.

There is evidence today that man's medicine-taking proclivity is on the increase.

In 1955 the American public consumed 46,800,000,000 pills. This is an average of 100 for every man, woman and child in the country. They paid nearly $1,000,000,000 for them.

And this does not take into consideration other forms of medication, such as injectibles or liquids taken by mouth.

The vast majority of the billions of pills swallowed each year come from less than 1,000 of the 6,000 different tablets and capsules listed in the catalogues of the nation's pharmaceutical firms.

The enormous consumption of pills, however, is not due solely to man's craving for medicine. It is intimately bound up with the great advances that have been made against a number of diseases that have plagued mankind for generations.

Many infectious diseases once conquered or held in check by drugs that can be taken by mouth. Tuberculosis, pneumonia and scarlet fever are just three in the ever-lengthening list.

In another field, certain diseases of deficiency, such as some forms of a n a s m i a, thyroid disturbances and pellagra, can be combated by drugs taken by mouth.

In 1940 the average prescription cost about 90 cents. Now the tab is $2.43.

Many people complain that the cost of drugs is too high. Pharmaceutical manufacturers have a number of answers in defense.

Sure, drugs cost a lot, but they are cheap for what you get, spokesmen say. And they are cheap compared to what the public spends for alcohol or tobacco.

Furthermore, even an expensive prescription is cheap when set against the cost of suffering or death.

In 1935 the total cost of treating a single case of mastoiditis was about $1,000. Today, the disease is prevented with $15 worth of antibiotics.

Some forms of anemia can be treated by medication taken by mouth. In 1955 the cost of this type of treatment for anemia was 54 per cent less than it was even as recently as in 1950. It is 80 per cent less than it was in 1928.

MIRACLE DRUGS

Industry spokesmen admit that new preparations called miracle drugs were expensive at first. Part of this was caused by the tremendous amount of research, time, effort and capital that went into the development, testing and production of the new item.

It is estimated that out of every thousand compounds studied by drug manufacturers, only one pays off.

Once the product has been tested, proved and accepted and production bugs licked, then the price tumbles.

New Hockey Season Opens Tomorrow

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Here I go again with one of those it's really too early to form opinions but I'm going to do it just the same. Summations of a team about to get started on a new season. It's what makes "experts" out of experts because pre-season is the season for optimism and the tendency is to avoid the truths which may hurt. It's bad enough to be wrong being optimistic but no one is more alone than the fellow who was in error crying doom.

And so we get into the annual early analysis of the Canucks hoping that head will prevail over heart, that thinking will be based on what has been seen instead of what was being looked for.

After watching the Canucks play two exhibition games, I'm neither optimistic or pessimistic. The club has definite possibilities and a cheering note is that replacements are at least the equal of the players lost from last season's second-place outfit, and could be a lot better.

On the other hand, there is the belief that competition is going to be a bit stiffer and that two calibre players, a centre-man and a winger, are needed before the Canucks can be rated a solid championship threat.

Starting with the coaching, I'll put on record here this opinion that Colin Kilburn was a fortuitous choice and that there need be no misgivings over his previous lack of coaching experience. It is to be expected that he will make a mistake or two, just as Casey Stengel does, but he will make up for any by his application to his job.

Kilburn has the somewhat old-fashioned idea that you get back in proportion to what you put out and I think he will convince his players that it still pays off. He'll be as good as his material, and no coach does better than that except in a lucky season.

In goal, we have the best in Marcel Pelletier. Injury, or illness are our only worries there.

The Cougar defence could be anywhere from fair to top-notch. Veteran Bill Davidson, the almost certain choice for club captain, is the solid, dependable man, likely to play back to his outstanding 1954-55 season. With him are three youngsters in Bill Dobbyn, Lionel Heinrich and Nelson Bullock, each needing only a standout season to win permanent promotion to the NHL.

If one of the trio develops, the Canucks will have a fair defence. If two come on, it will be good and if all three click, watch out. Off past performance, off potential, the odds must be with the Canucks here.

Up front, the Canucks have two forward lines which can be rated as better than fair. Last year, if you remember, they had only one.

The holdover smoothies, Kilburn, Doug Anderson and Doug Macauley, shouldn't be expected to match last season's 96 goals for the unit. If for no other reason than that they will have more scoring help. But if they are together again, they won't be too far off the 96 and will continue to be one of the league's better combinations. Anderson, it must be remembered, didn't play in either exhibition game. He would have made a noticeable difference. There aren't many better two-way pivotmen in the WHL, than the speedy Victoria veteran.

By the end of the season, the second line, which will have newcomer Gordie Haworth in the middle and Bruce Carmichael on left wing, may rank right up with the "Gold Dust" line. Haworth looks every bit a fine addition, a tryer who can score and set up goals. Carmichael, who showed real flashes of ability in a 20-goal freshman season, is big, young and strong, and improved. He shouldn't miss by much, may even surpass Kilburn's quota of 30 goals.

George Ranieri, highly regarded rookie, is getting his chance at the other wing. Reports say that he will do. If he lets down at all, rookie Roy Partridge, his teammate with the junior Barrie Flyers last season, showed Friday night that he won't look out of place on a top line. Watch this youngster. He may eventually be the best of all.

That leaves the club needing a third line, and it could be that it can be found with the material available, which is by no means being discounted. A trio picked from Don Chiupka, Wayne Brown, Larry Leach, Larry Berg and either Partridge or Ranieri could easily do.

I can only think that the Canucks have a good chance. They have aggressive leadership, good goalkeeping and youth with ability and desire. If what they have isn't enough, they have the knowledge that a calibre player is scheduled to join the club within a few weeks and there are prospects of a trade which will strengthen where strengthening is most needed.

They may get off to a slow start but it's a club which should improve steadily. They'll make mistakes and they probably will take too many penalties but they will be interesting and they will be trying. All the time.

Punjab United Scores Cup Soccer Triumph

Punjab United, newest entry into the Victoria District Football League, got a three-goal performance from outside left Chris Brown at Royal Athletic Park yesterday and defeated Esquimalt, 4-3, in the opening game of the annual McGavin Cup knockout competition.

Next scheduled match in the competition will be played Saturday at Royal Athletic Park between Butler Brothers and Heaneys. All proceeds from cup matches go to the district league's injured players' fund.

LINEUP SHUFFLE
Esquimalt held the edge in yesterday's game and held a 3-1 lead with five minutes to go in the second half. However, the Punjab club shuffled and Heaneys' take on Tullie's line at that point and its at Macdonald Park.

Victoria hockey fans will see some new faces Monday afternoon when Canucks open their 1956-57 Western Hockey League season against Art Chapman's Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena. The six newcomers retained by coach Colin Kilburn are, left to right: Roy Partridge, George Ranieri, Lionel Heinrich, Larry Berg, Larry Leach and Gordon Haworth. All but Berg will see action on Monday. (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Halecos Gain Tie for Lead; Defeat Royals

HOW THEY STAND

W. Westminister 8 1 1 21 12 13
Halecos 8 2 1 21 13 13
Victoria 8 3 1 17 26 8
North Shore 8 2 2 11 22 3

Saturday's score: Halecos 4, New Westminster Royals 2

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Halecos moved into a first-place tie with New Westminster Royals in Pacific Coast Soccer Saturday with a 4-2 win over Royals here.

Royals led 2-1 at half-time on goals by John Swan and Gogle Stewart. Halecos Bob Bruce got the only Vancouver counter.

Halecos scored three times in the second half, however, with a reply from New Westminster. Scorers were Ed Bak, Art Hughes and Frank Sealey.

Colin Kilburn, the hard-working left-winger who finished seventh in the individual scoring race last season with 86 points including 43 goals, will be at the helm of the Canucks Monday in his league coaching debut.

The Canucks' top line is expected to be Phil Maloney between McLeod and Dick Lamoureux, who played 54 games with Saskatoon last season. Maloney again appears headed for a great season after leading WHL scoring in the 1955-56 campaign with 93 points, winning the most valuable player award and being selected to the first all-star team.

Other forwards seeking a berth on the club are holdovers Gordie Pennell, Freddie Brown, Bill Wylie, George Ford, Mark Marquess, Carl Kaiser, and rookies Gordie Redish and Bill Boss. Chapman announced yesterday that rookies Norm Usselman and Walter Peachish have been dropped.

That means that Anderson will centre for Kilburn and Doug Macauley, the "Gold Dust" line that carried the scoring load last season. Busting Bruce Carmichael will work at left wing on a line with newcomers Gordon Haworth and George Ranieri, and Roy Partridge. Don Chiupka and Wayne Brown will form the third line.

BERG RETAINED
Defence pairings will be Nelson Bullock and Bill Davidson, and Lionel Heinrich and Bill Dobbyn. Lanky Larry Leach will be utility player while Larry Berg has been retained by the club but has not turned professional.

Newcomers to Victoria fans will be Haworth, Ranieri, Partridge, Leach and Heinrich. The rookies are Ranieri, Partridge and Leach.

Canucks are expected to be stronger this season because of the addition of all-star right-winger Jackie McLeod from the defunct Saskatoon Quakers and ex-Chicago Black Hawk defenceman Rags Raglan, a rugged type who has impressed in workouts.

MIKULAN RETURNS
Ray Mikulan, the league's top reminder last season and a solid choice as rookie-of-the-year, will be returning in goal. Raglan has been working with rookie Ralph Keller, while Hugh Currie and Gordie Hudson are expected to line up as the other defence pairing.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—General manager Dewey Soriano of the Seattle Rainiers says the club hopes to land catcher Joe Ginsberg for the 1957 Pacific Coast League season.

Ginsberg played with Kansas City and Baltimore this year. He was with the Rainiers in 1955 and hit .293 in 157 games.

Says Soriano: "Joe would be a great help to us. I think we have a fine chance to get him back."

Washington Huskies, who dropped a 3-1 decision to Minnesota last Saturday, surprised Illinois, 28-43, with the help of a 92-yard touchdown romp by Dean Derby, and Oregon State blew a two-touchdown lead in the final quarter and lost 14-13 to Iowa.

Police were forced to use tear gas to break up a riot at Moscow, Idaho, where 16,000 aroused students watched Washington State whip the host school, 33-19. Hundreds of students poured onto the field as the game ended and began fighting for possession of the goal posts.

Cougars Start WHL Season Against Old Rivals Tomorrow

Victoria hockey fans will see some new faces Monday afternoon when Canucks open their 1956-57 Western Hockey League season against Art Chapman's Vancouver Canucks at Memorial Arena. The six newcomers retained by coach Colin Kilburn are, left to right: Roy Partridge, George Ranieri, Lionel Heinrich, Larry Berg, Larry Leach and Gordon Haworth. All but Berg will see action on Monday. (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Fittingly enough, the Canucks' first test of their 70-game schedule will be against Art Chapman's Vancouver Canucks, the traditional Mainland rivals who are picked by a good many of the experts to capture their second successive coast division title.

Some of the games best remembered by Victoria fans in the eight-year history of the Canucks have been played between the two clubs and there's no reason to believe that the keen competition and often bitter feeling will lessen this season.

DOWN TO WIRE
It was the Canucks and the Canucks who battled down to the wire last season before the Vancouver club overtook the Cats in the final two weeks of the schedule and ended up with a five-point lead. And it was the Canucks who ousted the Cougars from the coast division playoffs.

Colin Kilburn, the hard-working left-winger who finished seventh in the individual scoring race last season with 86 points including 43 goals, will be at the helm of the Canucks Monday in his league coaching debut.

The Canucks' top line is expected to be Phil Maloney between McLeod and Dick Lamoureux, who played 54 games with Saskatoon last season. Maloney again appears headed for a great season after leading WHL scoring in the 1955-56 campaign with 93 points, winning the most valuable player award and being selected to the first all-star team.

Other forwards seeking a berth on the club are holdovers Gordie Pennell, Freddie Brown, Bill Wylie, George Ford, Mark Marquess, Carl Kaiser, and rookies Gordie Redish and Bill Boss. Chapman announced yesterday that rookies Norm Usselman and Walter Peachish have been dropped.

That means that Anderson will centre for Kilburn and Doug Macauley, the "Gold Dust" line that carried the scoring load last season. Busting Bruce Carmichael will work at left wing on a line with newcomers Gordon Haworth and George Ranieri, and Roy Partridge. Don Chiupka and Wayne Brown will form the third line.

BERG RETAINED
Defence pairings will be Nelson Bullock and Bill Davidson, and Lionel Heinrich and Bill Dobbyn. Lanky Larry Leach will be utility player while Larry Berg has been retained by the club but has not turned professional.

Newcomers to Victoria fans will be Haworth, Ranieri, Partridge, Leach and Heinrich. The rookies are Ranieri, Partridge and Leach.

Canucks are expected to be stronger this season because of the addition of all-star right-winger Jackie McLeod from the defunct Saskatoon Quakers and ex-Chicago Black Hawk defenceman Rags Raglan, a rugged type who has impressed in workouts.

MIKULAN RETURNS
Ray Mikulan, the league's top reminder last season and a solid choice as rookie-of-the-year, will be returning in goal. Raglan has been working with rookie Ralph Keller, while Hugh Currie and Gordie Hudson are expected to line up as the other defence pairing.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—General manager Dewey Soriano of the Seattle Rainiers says the club hopes to land catcher Joe Ginsberg for the 1957 Pacific Coast League season.

Ginsberg played with Kansas City and Baltimore this year. He was with the Rainiers in 1955 and hit .293 in 157 games.

Says Soriano: "Joe would be a great help to us. I think we have a fine chance to get him back."

Boucher Shakes Up Regals; Eight Ex-Quakers in Lineup

BRANDON (CP)—Frank Boucher, veteran coach and general manager of Brandon Regals of the Western Hockey League, is not the type to string along with a losing team.

M. Horn Wins Ladder Chess

Mike Horn defeated R. R. Bennett in their second match Friday to win the Victoria Chess Club ladder competition.

In the Victoria and District junior championship competition, challenger E. F. Harvey leads Horn 4½ to 1½, after six games in their 20-game series.

Annual general meeting of the Victoria City Chess Club will be held Friday at 8 p.m. in the clubrooms. All members and others interested are invited to attend.

Hoop Entries

Team entries for all leagues in the Victoria and District Basketball Association will close on October 15.

Teams intending to compete in the association this season must send entries to secretary Gerry Hodge, 1067 Bank Street, before that date.

Ontario Wrestlers Selected To Canada's Games Squad

WINNIPEG (CP)—Light-heavyweight champion Bob Steckle of Kitchener and welterweight champion Bruno Ochman of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Saturday were named to Canada's two-man wrestling team at the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Australia.

The two were picked by a selection committee which met at the completion of the two-day Canadian amateur wrestling championships at the Winnipeg YMCA.

The 26-year-old Steckle was one of three members of Canada's 1952 Olympic team to capture titles at the championships. The other two were featherweight Armand Bernard of Montreal, who was named alternate on the 1956 squad, and lightweight Adrien Poliquin, also of Montreal.

Ochman, 27, won the welterweight championship after a close battle with Nick Mohammed of Vancouver, a member of the 1952 Olympic team, and Jim Christie of Grimsby, Ont., and Hamilton. The three tied on points but Ochman was awarded the title on a special back-count of previous matches.

Ray Loughheed of Regina picked off the lightweight crown to complete the tournament. Three titles were decided Thursday night, taking the Evans of Calgary wrestling championship; George Kusy of St. Catharines, Ont., the middleweight; and Gordon Nelson of Winnipeg, the heavyweight.

George Malo of Toronto carried Loughheed to the limit in the lightweight finale before losing out on a split decision.

Gardner's Goal Gives Clippers Second Win

Heaneys and Fullers Clippers each moved into a four-point lead in their respective divisions yesterday as play in the Lower Island Junior and Junior Soccer Association entered its second week.

The Clippers, a new entry in the association's division II, scored their second straight victory by edging Eagles 1-0, at afternoon at 2. Tulliams of Topaz Avenue Park. A goal by Kenny Gardner after 10 minutes in the second half gave them the lead in the division II match win.

Thrown in Paris Race

PARIS (AP)—Eddie Arcaro, leading U.S. jockey, had his first mount in a French race Saturday—and was thrown at the start.

Arcaro flew in Paris to ride C. V. Whitney's Career Boy in the rich Arc de Triomphe stakes today. To get some experience with French racing, Arcaro accepted three mounts on Saturday's program at Longchamps.

When the Regals, pieced together a few short weeks before, the 1955-56 season opened, finished in last place in the WHL's Prairie division last season. Boucher said that things would be different next year. As the Regals opened their 1956-57 training camp it was evident that Boucher is a man of his word.

Five rookie forwards are still with the club and at least one of them, rangy centerman Lyle Willey, is assured of a permanent spot. Willey, high-scoring forward with the junior Flin Flon Bombers last season, was the first player to be signed by the Regals and he has been impressive in workouts on a line with Manson and Colwill.

The other rookies are Bob Chorley, Elliott's younger brother, Willie Voss, top scorer with Lethbridge Native Sons last year, and Jim Nicholl, both former Brandon Wheat Kings juniors.

DEBUT FOR GREAVES—Middleweight boxer Wilf Greaves will make his Canadian professional debut here Oct. 18 in a 10-round bout against Irv Steen of New York, promoter Pat Giannone said Saturday.

Saskatoon Quakers are out of the league this season but one would never know it from looking at the Regals. Eight members of last season's Saskatoon club are with Brandon, including high-scoring centerman Don Raleigh.

Boucher lured the former New York Ranger stalwart out of retirement with an assistant coach offer and it is likely that Raleigh will take over as coach if all goes well. The other ex-Quakers with the Regals are defencemen Bob Chrystal, Vic Lynn, Howie Yanosik and Howie Milford and forwards Len Haley, Eldon Kobussen and Les Colwill.

Bucyk is the lone member of last season's Regals defensive corps with the club this season. He will be fighting for a berth on the club with Wilkie, the four Saskatoon players and big Andy McCallum, a Brandon product who played last year with Windsor Bulldogs.

POTENTIAL OFFENSIVE—Raleigh, Kobussen, Haley and Colwill, and holdovers Manson, Lucien Dechenne, defencemen Bill Bucyk and Murray Wilkie, and forwards Elliott Chorley, Ray Manson and Norm Johnson, Wilkie was a forward with the 1955-56 team, but was shifted back to defence in practices when Boucher decided he needed a rearguard with a bit more aggressiveness.

Charles Disqualified

Former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati holds young Welshman Dick Richardson with both hands during first round of their scheduled 10-rounder at London's Harringay Arena. Charles was warned about his tactics but was disqualified in the second round for persistent holding. Richardson, who meets Cuba's Nino Valdes in England Dec. 4, hopes to get a bout in the U.S. with either Archie Moore or Floyd Patterson.

French Horses Like Gumbo; Win Three of Five Classics

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—To the astonishment of Britons who shivered through the summer in seaside boarding houses or gnawed their nails when rain stopped cricket, it seems this was a great year after all. At least, for horses, ducks and aspidochelons.

Everybody knows, of course, that ducks date on a downpour. And "it's been a vintage year for aspidochelons—they love damp and gloomy conditions," says Dr. N. L. Bor, assistant director at London's famed Kew Gardens, cheer-

French horses have won the Derby six times. The significance becomes apparent when it is noted that the number of French entries each year is three or four, compared with anywhere from 15 to 30 British thoroughbreds.

The trend has aroused some worried comment. Some writers feel that it is just a question of the pendulum swinging, and that next year or the year after the celebrated British thoroughbred will come back into his own.

Others fear that modern trends on the British turf—the gradual impoverishment of the aristocracy that provided racing's main financial support and the exporting of valuable bloodstock to North America—are slowly lowering the standards of the sport in the British Isles.

For the first time in more people's memories, French-trained thoroughbreds have galloped off with three of the five classic races, the Derby with Lavandin, the Oaks with Siccardi, and the St. Leger with Cambremer. In terms of cash, all races included, the cross-channel race totals more than £100,000 if place money is included.

Arsenal Trips Manchester C; Irish Team Ties England, 1-1

LONDON (CP)—Arsenal broke out of a 2-2 tie to defeat Manchester City 7-3 and take another big step in a rebuilding program aimed at making the London club the king of English soccer once more.

The game was the biggest upset of Saturday's soccer bill of fare. It balanced off an almost unbelievable 1-1 tie by Northern Ireland against England's international team at Belfast.

England was supposed to win that one by about 5-1. MATTHEWS SCORES—Stanley Matthews, who at 42 seems to get better with age, scored for England against the Irish in the first 20 minutes. From then on the way and except for two or three bad breaks, Ireland probably would have won.

Another London club, Tottenham Hotspur, continued its power football to defeat Chelsea 4-2. Tottenham is a strong second-place club in the English League's first division.

BLACKPOOL IN DRAW—In other first division games, Blackpool and Burnley drew 2-2, and Cardiff City knocked off Leeds United 4-1. Portsmouth defeated Aston Villa 5-1.

Charlton Athletic, the division's cellar team, gave league champion Manchester United some anxious moments before United won 4-2.

However, Manchester had to do without the services of four of its stars who played in the England-Ireland match.

In the international, a crowd of 38,000 at Belfast's Windsor Park expected the Irish club to be triumphant when Matthews, who now has represented his country for 21 years, put England ahead.

FOULIGHT BACK—But the Irish fought back and sent the crowd wild with an equalizing goal from inside - right Jimmy McIlroy in the 10th minute.

Reg Matthews, the English goalkeeper, seemed at fault when McIlroy scored the equalizer.

In the second division, Leicester, 5-2 winners over Barnsley in a game which produced four goals in the first 10 minutes, took over the lead from Nottingham Forest which lost 1-0 to Huddersfield.

HOLDS LEAD—Although held to a scoreless tie at Millwall, Southampton held its lead in the third division south but only on goal average over Torquay United, which won 3-1 from Southend United.

The top teams in the division's northern section, Hartlepool, United and Accrington, Stanley, both won at home. Hartlepool preserving a one-point lead over its rivals, Hartlepool edged Derby County 2-1 while Accrington defeated Darlington 4-2.

Celtic defeated Clyde 2-0 to reach the final of the Scottish League cup.

Hearts took over the lead in the Scottish League first division with a 2-0 win at Ayr. In the second division, Cowdenhead scored a 2-0 victory over Brechin City to increase its first-place margin.

Big Vulcan's Crash
'Price of Progress'

LONDON (CP)—When the brooding wings of a giant be developed. The ministry of defense, which is responsible for the development of the Vulcan, is not concerned about the crash.

The crash of the Vulcan, which occurred on September 21, was the first of its kind. The aircraft was on a test flight and was carrying a large amount of fuel. The crash was caused by a problem with the engine. The ministry of defense is not concerned about the crash, as it is a normal part of the development process.

The crash of the Vulcan was a major setback for the British government. The aircraft was one of the most advanced in the world at the time. The crash was caused by a problem with the engine, which was a common problem with the Vulcan.

Nasser Sees
Prophets Err,
Profits Fall

PORT SAID, Egypt (UP)—Despite the gloomy predictions of Western pilots who quit their jobs on the Suez Canal, traffic still is moving smoothly through the waterway.

Egypt however is receiving little cash benefit from it. Since July 28 when President Gamal Abdel Nasser nationalized the old Suez Canal, 2,365 ships have moved through the 101-mile waterway but only an estimated 10 per cent of them have paid fees to Egypt. The canal is now being operated by the Suez Canal Authority, which is a government-owned corporation. The canal is a major source of revenue for Egypt, and the nationalization of the canal was a major step in Egypt's economic development.

Remedy Tippy Tables

By J. RALPH DALZIEL.

It is a common complaint that tables are tippy. This is usually due to the fact that the legs are not properly secured. The remedy is to use a simple device to secure the legs.

The device is a simple one, and it can be made in a few minutes. It is made of a piece of wood, and it is used to secure the legs of the table.

The Viewing World

It Ought to Be a Terrific Show

By JOHN CROSBY

LEONARD BERNSTEIN

"Symphony," which has a distinguished record for the unexpected, opens its first season tonight on a new network, ABC-TV, 9 p.m. PST. In it, with a 10-minute essay on the development of American music in 1956, Mr. Bernstein, conductor and pianist, will present a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed. It is a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed. It is a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed.

undigested lump that was pretty terrible and yet preposterously successful.

By narration and by staging and by modulation, Bernstein shows how musical comedy can be made to grow from a basis of intelligent, almost scholarly, knowledge of the past.

Besides being a great authority on music, Bernstein is a gifted showman and for his 60-minute show, which will have 15 song and dance productions and a cast of 50, he has drawn freely from the 2,000 musical productions in this country in the last 100 years. This is such a wealth of material that some really great shows like "Pat Joey" had to be left out.

Bernstein points out that the American people make the Euro-pean, had no grounding in grand opera so it borrowed heavily from operetta, particularly Gilbert and Sullivan. Meanwhile, he says, the American people are not sophisticated enough to appreciate a serious musical comedy.

After the First World War, American musical comedy began to be as sophisticated as the European. Bernstein's "On Your Feet" is a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed.

To show how Gershwin used operetta technique in "Of Thee I Sing," Bernstein will present simultaneously the finale of that show and of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado," the two scores almost playing counterpoint to each other and the plot lines being almost identical. It ought to be mighty interesting.

Bernstein makes a clear distinction between musical comedy and opera. He says, "The King and I," "Pat Joey" and "Carrousel"—all written, it is true in the most up-to-date Broadway manner utilizing all the advances in taste and technique, but operetta is more the less.

When "On Your Feet" is presented, it will be a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed.

When the Serenades are singing "There Is Nothing Like a Parade," Bernstein will present a new musical comedy, "On Your Feet," which he has written and directed.

"Out of all this a new form has been born. It is almost as though it is our moment in history; as if there is a historical necessity that gives us such a wealth of creative talent at this precise time," Bernstein concludes.

On Gold Coast

New Nation Born Soon

LONDON (UPI)—In six months, the legendary Gold Coast, where pirates roamed until the mid-17th century, will exist as a new nation, Ghana, a new, self-governing nation.

A BOLD GAMBLE—For Britain, which has ruled the Gold Coast for 100 years, the move to independence is a bold gamble. The new nation, which will be a member of the Commonwealth, will be a new nation, Ghana, a new, self-governing nation.

They Got His Goat Now They Must Pay

ROME (UPI)—Four ex-members of the Italian army are beginning to wish they had skipped a certain meal during service on the Russian front.

The four were members of an Italian armored division back in 1943. And when Easter Sunday rolled around they began thinking about the folks back home—how they'd be eating the traditional big dinner.

The Italian soldiers looked about, and the only thing they found was a goat belonging to a Russian peasant.

Man Goes to Jail For Stealing Radio with a criminal record dating back to 1928 was sentenced to six months in jail yesterday for the theft of a $39.95 radio from Hudson's Bay Co. store Friday.

Roy William Lindley, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to the theft charge. A store detective saw him put the radio in a shopping bag and attempt to leave the store.

Cyril Gardner, Glen Court admitted that "a lifetime" of leaving liquor alone was what he needed and promised to cut it out definitely for six months. Magistrate Henry Hall gave the man, who had pleaded guilty to false pretences netting him $91 on a worthless cheque, a suspended sentence and ordered him to post a $500 bond to keep the peace and refrain from drinking for six months.

Magistrate Hall said it was obvious that Gardner had been Gardner's trouble and asked him if he would pledge not to drink for six months.

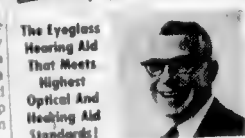

"Yes, your honor, I think a lifetime would be better," Gardner said.

In a special Oak Bay police COURTNEY funeral services were held here yesterday for Frank Ryan Williams, 84, former city electrician and plumbing inspector who died Monday at the Victoria hospital.

Predeceased by his wife, Bertha and a daughter, Ruby, he is survived by a grandson, Duke Dobell, Port Alberni, and nephews in England.

Gregory Peck Soon Starting As Producer

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Gregory Peck ordered a drink, ham and turkey on rye, and hot tea, smiled charmingly across a table in the Bel Air Hotel patio and told me: "I'm a producer, but I haven't produced anything yet."

"Everybody is doing it setting up their own companies. You can incorporate yourself for $25, rent an office and put your name on the door and you're in business."

"Then it gets harder. You have to find good stories to film. My company already has backing from United Artists for a two-picture deal. I think my partner Sy Bartlett will start with 'An Affair of Honor.' It was a Broadway play that was not a success, about a British major (to be played by Gregory) and an American girl in colonial times. No, that won't be the first—it's too big. We'll start with a melodrama, a love story. This is 'Thieves Market,' to be made in Madrid with Ava Gardner."

Before launching his own production, Peck has a date at Metro with Lauren Bacall in "Designing Woman." In spite of all the new star companies mushrooming all over Hollywood, there's nothing like a sure salary, especially Gregory's which has to be in the half-million-dollar class.

Peck isn't given to talking about his private life and he surprised me with his eloquence over wide Venice, where he married last January after his divorce from Victor's mother of his three boys.

"She's a girl to have fun with and I'll love her till death." Their first baby has an October 20 deadline. "We hope for a girl and we'll call her Victor. We have no name chosen if it's a boy. We tried to keep it a secret, but Victorine felt wobbly during a dinner party and the cat was out of the bag. We're so happy about it. I don't want to sound like the birds and the bees but I've never been so happy."

We discussed our children, who attend the same school. "I like a boy who raises a little hell," said Greg. "If a boy isn't adventurous it isn't right. I like a boy who isn't too easily reined in. A man must be a bit of a rebel. None of my children is the goody goody type, thank goodness."

The Pecks bought the Kurt Frings home recently for $95,000. "But it isn't too big, three bedrooms and the boys can stay weekends. We'll use the guest room for a nursery." Of course there's a swimming pool for his boys, who learned to swim before they could walk.

I've always said that newspaper people must have interesting people. Especially women reporters. And that's how Victorine met Greg.

"She was a cub reporter in Paris. They call them 'pap' reporters. They're not too big, three bedrooms and the boys can stay weekends. We'll use the guest room for a nursery." Of course there's a swimming pool for his boys, who learned to swim before they could walk.

By RICHARD FREEDMAN

NEW YORK (NANA)—How does an author find the title of his novel? At first thought, that would seem the easiest part of his task. In fact, most people picture the author hunched over a typewriter, first and then waiting a book around it.

That sometimes does happen. Sloan Wilson was once reported by his publisher to write a novel about a Man in an Avenue computer that would find the title. "The Man in The Grey Flannel Suit."

Not more often the title is the last thing thought of. Frequently it is hit upon barely weeks before the book actually goes into print. Sometimes the author just is unable to choose a suitable title and the publisher must step in with one he thinks will sell better.

Many of the modern American novels we think of as standard (what I call "Hollywood Angel") titles (Gatsby, "A Farewell to Arms") have quite different names in their authors' minds during composition.

Thomas Wolfe had every intention of calling his first novel "The Last Days of Summer." The publisher of his first novel, however, before publication, he changed it to "Look Homeward, Angel."

Peck's also was a title. He was writing for the book "The Great Gatsby." He was writing for the book "The Great Gatsby." He was writing for the book "The Great Gatsby."

Anniversary

By JOHN HAVERSTICK

THIS IS THE YEAR of the 100th anniversary of the birth of George Bernard Shaw—an anniversary which has gone largely uncelebrated. But now, a book which may well prove to be the definitive biography of the Irish playwright has been published, thus at least partially making amends to Mr. Shaw.

The book is entitled "Bernard Shaw: A Memoir, 1876-1950" and its author is John Ervine, a Belfast-born septuagenarian who was one of Shaw's intimate friends of Shaw.

Recently being aware of the fact that there are readers who consider the personality of Shaw to be something of a fraud, we asked Mr. Ervine how he felt about the matter. In return Mr. Ervine replied at great length, beginning with the moment he first met Shaw at a meeting of the Dublin Literary Society at the turn of the century.

"I knew G.B.S. the moment I saw him," said Mr. Ervine. "That was a curious character. He was a man who had something to say which was worth hearing, even if it was unpleasant and you did not agree with a word of it."

"What is almost certain is that if G.B.S. had been Shakespeare's contemporary they would have been good friends, just as G.B.S. and Sir Arthur Pinero, despite the rough handling Shaw the critic gave Pinero the dramatist were excellent friends. G.B.S., more than the majority of men, had a gift for friendship, a fact which is apparent from the more mention of them. One had to be a genius in friendship to be the intimate of Sidney Webb (Mr. Ervine disagreed sharply with Shaw's and Webb's so-called policies) and Gene Tunney. Mrs. Patrick Campbell and the Abbess of Stanbury. Who but G.B.S. could have hobnobbed with William Archer and G. K. Chesterton, Mrs. Annie Besant and Ellen Terry? To be the intimate of J. M. Barrie, Mrs. Asquith, Gilbert Murray, Sir Horace Plunkett and Father Ronald Knox was to have a gift for friendship surpassing that of the vast majority of people."

Some other Ervine character-istics of Shaw:

NO RANCOR

"He loved argument and was an uncommonly good debater because he had no rancor in him and never lost his temper."

"He was a courteous man, always willing to give place to other people, and he had a more for his friends than his friends for him."

What Is A Book?

By EDWARD MARON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NANA)—When is a book a book? When it costs at least sixpence (seven cents) in England or is more than 64 pages in Hungary, 60 in Denmark, 50 in South Africa, 49 in Canada, 32 in Czechoslovakia and 17 in Iceland.

Such is the worldwide confusion in book-making as reported and analyzed in all things—a book published today by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The world survey, prepared by R. F. Barker, deputy secretary of the Publishers' Association of Great Britain, expresses the hope that publication of this study will help to stimulate support for the effort to make "books for all" a reality.

As a start, the survey asks all countries to get together on what is a book and what isn't. In India, Indonesia and Russia, for instance, they do not distinguish between pamphlets and books. They all are called books.

UNESCO recommends that a book be defined as "a non-periodical publication containing 49 or more pages."

Such uniformity would make it easier for international book unity which you consider the survey's estimate that about 2,000,000 books are published annually, representing about 240,000 titles.

But world book production is not spread very evenly. Nine-tenths is the product of only eight languages: English, Russian, French, German, Japanese, Italian, Spanish and Chinese.

When it comes to translations, 70 per cent are in four languages and English, French, German and Russian. The survey reports that Russia and Red China are sending forward to the book world with Chinese printing out translations of Western classics. The first such translations are of the plays of Shakespeare and Moliere.

Unfortunately three-quarters of the world's book output is limited to 10 countries which leads the survey to recommend help for book publishing and public libraries in the underdeveloped countries of Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Moving books from one country to another has its problems too. Seventy per cent of the countries impose currency restrictions on books and more than half do not permit special half rates for mailing printed matter.

To help straighten things out UNESCO has gained agreement of 22 countries to duty-free movement of books, and is urging for lower mailing charges for books and has bound 49 countries to the universal copyright convention.

"Petticoat Brigade" Keeps Fire-Foe Banked In Forest Area

By ALEC MERRIMAN

WHEN THE FIRE ALARM sounds at Great Central Lake the "petticoat brigade" goes into action. It is the women—wives of husky loggers who are mostly away in the woods—who provide protection for this logging settlement deep in the heart of Vancouver Island's evergreen forest, where fire can be an overwhelming foe.

These fire-fighters of Great Central Lake do not have the same equipment as the men. They have no hose, no pump, no ladder. They have only their own strength and the tools of the forest. They are the women who live in the forest, who are the backbone of the logging community. They are the women who are the first to respond to the alarm. They are the women who are the first to fight the fire.

OTHERS FOLLOW

Great Central Lake is a logging community. It is a logging community where the women are the backbone. They are the women who are the first to respond to the alarm. They are the women who are the first to fight the fire.

At Great Central Lake the women keep watch. They are the women who are the first to respond to the alarm. They are the women who are the first to fight the fire.

If all the men happen to be fighting a bush or forest fire the women are trained to fight fire by themselves. They have attended bush fires which threatened nearby houses and buildings. In 1942 they fought a house fire. But all in all, the women's brigade hasn't had much action.

The women of Great Central Lake are the backbone of the logging community. They are the women who are the first to respond to the alarm. They are the women who are the first to fight the fire.

Minutes after an alarm women firefighters of Great Central Lake are on the job. Their only preparations for answering a call are for domestic precautions. STAMP PACKET

By M. ANGUS

The first stamp packet was issued by the British Empire in 1914. It was a collection of stamps from the various countries of the Empire, and it was the first time that stamps from different countries were sold together. The idea was to encourage people to collect stamps from all over the Empire, and to show the unity of the Empire. The first stamp packet was a success, and it was followed by many more. Today, stamp packets are still popular, and they are a great way to collect stamps from all over the world.

Voting Delay Hinted

Saanich Reeve Ponders Sewer

Reeve Arthur Ash may ask Saanich council this week to postpone the sewers by-law referendum until the provincial government decides whether or not to guarantee municipal bonds.

Poling date was set recently for Oct. 27, but a postponement may mean the issue will be placed before the ratepayers at the annual municipal election in December.

The reeve said the suggestion arose at last week's Union of B.C. Municipalities convention when delegates unanimously endorsed a Vancouver Island resolution asking the government to back municipal bonds to stimulate sales.

GOVERNMENT AID—Reason for a postponement, he said, was the possibility that the government would not retroactively guarantee bonds issued after the decision was approved by ratepayers.

The municipality would not suffer a delay in the resumption of the sewer program because "we've never had any hopes of starting work before spring," said the reeve.

In view of the expense involved in the sewer program, the municipality is not prepared to start the sewer program until the government has decided to back municipal bonds to stimulate sales.

SAANICH LOSS—Saanich suffered a financial loss of $1,117 on the original sewer bond sale and recently without the waterworks sale from the bond market because of extremely high discount.

Reeve Ash said he now feels that the by-law should be "more of a political football than the waterworks vote which was passed by ratepayers during last December's elections."

Drive Lagging District Trailing In Chest Stakes

Greater Victoria trailed yesterday in the race among six Western Canadian cities to reach its Community Chest goals first.

Victoria's chest drive, which began on Oct. 1, is now at $10,000, while the other cities are at various stages of completion. The chest drive is a campaign to raise money for the Community Chest, which provides financial aid to the needy.

Chiefs 'Sell' Prevention To Save Lives, Cut Fire Loss

On the eve of Fire Prevention Week, which starts today, Greater Victoria's fire chiefs last night expressed determination to help cut Canada's annual fire waste of some 500 lives and $100,000,000 worth of property.

"Our aim during Fire Prevention Week," said Victoria Fire Chief F. W. Briers, "will be to sell everyone on the idea that fire prevention is a life-and-death matter; that each individual owes it to himself, to his family and his community to think and act fire-safe every minute of the day the year 'round."

School children in most of the Greater Victoria municipalities will be able to see shiny red fire trucks drive up to their schools this week.

Firemen will inspect homes for fire hazards, and a fire drill will be held in each school on this week.

MUST REACH HOMES—The fire department is determined to reach every home in the city with a message about fire safety.

Firemen will visit homes and schools to check for fire hazards. They will also give out fire safety pamphlets and talk to children about fire safety.

The fire department at BMC Dockyard last night won second place in the National Fire Protection Association's Fire Prevention Week contests. With substations at BMC's Station, Belmont Park, Rocky Point and Patricia Bay, the 130 federal fire-fighting personnel make up the second-largest fire fighting contingent in the province.

One of the best ways to prevent home fires, said Chief Briers, is to have your home inspected for fire hazards by firemen, who are specially trained to look for and find hidden dangers.

INSPECTION SERVICE—A free inspection service is available at the BMC Dockyard.

Canada's per capita fire loss is one of the highest of any country in the world, with one house catching fire every 30 seconds. Most of these, Chief Briers said, are caused by human carelessness.

He said this week's fire prevention week slogan is the best advice for the public: "Don't Give Fire a Chance to Start."

Only Right Side Works

Never Missed Yet Says Well-Witcher

By JUDY GRAHAM

People are still superstitious about digging wells.

That's why Albert Wilson of Saanich can make money from one of the oldest and oddest arts water digging.

"I've been doing it for 15 years and never had a dry well yet," Mr. Wilson said.

The tools of his trade are simple: a fork of rod of wood, a switch of willow, and a piece of wire. The art comes in making that switch find water. No real talent is involved, except being able to count.

The well witcher, as they are often called, walks over an area with a fork of rod of wood in his hands and waits for it to begin twinging. The twinging, or rather counts the number of times the rod twings and from that can tell how far down water will be found.

"The depth of each job varies from person to person," Mr. Wilson said. "Mine is eight inches to each jerk, but with some people, it can be eight feet."

Most common dreamer used is a fork. A piece of wood that looks like a large sling shot.

The dreamer holds a prong of the fork and in each hand and when the water is found the stick points down, twinging noticeably in the dreamer's hands.

"I can't use a fork because with my right side works for finding water," Mr. Wilson said. "I use the rod in my right hand and only use my left to keep it steady."

His two most recent digging jobs were on Latoria Road, where Malcolm will have their water cut off on Oct. 31.

Mr. Wilson trusts his own work and recently watched a well in his own yard at 264 Hartland.

"I found a strong stream at four feet—stronger than the water spouted right over the top."

"Scientists have no explanation for divining," he said. "They just don't admit it works."

"I used to be dreamer were called this and now the people who try to dig a well without having a well, are the ones called crazy," Mr. Wilson said.

Warren Worried . . .

Tourist Competition Stiffer

Campaigns publicizing Victoria must be stepped up this year, the city experts say. The city's own, as a major tourist attraction, George I. Warren, publicity director, said yesterday.

Although Victoria was named more tourists in 1956 than in any previous year, "we must work even harder in the future to get our share of the tourist trade in the face of stiffening competition," he said. This year's banner influx of tourists was recorded in publicity bureau statistics which showed a 7 per cent rise in out-of-province cars and a 9 per cent increase in passengers arriving at docks at Sidney and Victoria.

Customs cleared 91,272 cars and 278,097 passengers for entry into Victoria from the first of the year, compared with 85,024 cars and 254,056 passengers during the same nine-month period in 1955. License plates from each of the 48 United States were seen during the year on Victoria streets, along with cars from Alaska, Hawaii, Holland, Great Britain, Mexico, Canal Zone, Virgin Islands, Germany and U.S. administered Okinawa.

Pleased with the peak tourism, Mr. Warren said that the percentage gains made in 1956 show the "brightest tourist picture in Canada."

"But competition is getting keener," he said. "With lower fares offered to Europe. We have to work harder for our share of the trade because every place, every country is going after the tourist."

This winter, he said, the foreign will concentrate on helping the potential tourist realize the potential of publicizing Victoria as a year-round destination for people who want to see the best of British Columbia.

"During the coming season we will direct our emphasis on inter-provincial travel," he said. "Canadians should know Canada better."

Dinner, Dance Will Follow Council Rally

By GEORGE BARR
District Commissioner, Victoria District

Annual meeting of the Victoria District Council of the Boy Scouts Association will be held Nov. 29 at 6.30 p.m. in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden. A dinner will be followed by a dance at 9 p.m. Tickets for the dinner and dance will be available at district headquarters Wednesday. Attendance will be restricted to 250. Groups planning to attend should make their reservations early.

Rovers and Rover leaders of the district met Saturday to move donated building materials to the district camp at Sooke. Lumber and supplies will be stored until a site is located for a new Rover cabin. The Rovers seek a site suitable for two Sea Rover crews and five other Rover crews.

Scouting Explained courses were given Willows and Esquimalt group committees. Both groups have elected new officers. The jamboree film was shown to Willows group prior to the course. Many parents enjoyed this glimpse of Scouting in operation.

Arthur Chamberlain was elected to head the Akela Council till the annual meeting. Frank Hornsby will act as his assistant during this period.

B.C. Forest Service showed two new conservation films to Windsor Park Troop. Scouts were shown how wild life, forests and soil depend on conservation and the wise use of resources. Craig Andrews, patrol leader of the Scouts went up to the Rover crew Wednesday night.

Rover leader J. Muir welcomed him into the crew. Rovers G. Bates and G. Megaw will act as sponsors for Craig.

George Vale group will hold a special meeting of parents Wednesday night. Parents who have boys in this group are asked to be at the Scout hall at 8 p.m.

Scouters' Council will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. All Scouters are asked to attend this meeting as attendance has been steadily dropping. New leaders are advised that they can gain many ideas for their own meetings.

Sooke Troop welcomed four boys from both parks at a going-up ceremony Tuesday. The troop now has 30 boys enrolled and is looking forward to an active year. It is hoped that a Rover crew will start in the Sooke area soon.

Boys between 16 and 20 should get in touch with members of the group committee.

Recaptured

Natally dressed, Robert Edward Wood, who escaped from Kingston penitentiary four days ago and was captured in a Toronto apartment, denied he was the fugitive until police took his fingerprints. He had $77 in cash in his pockets and told police he still had $50,000 or $60,000 of the money he obtained in a $94,000 robbery. (CPC).

AUXILIARY HELPS

St. Joseph's hospital women's auxiliary, one of the 19 Red Feather agencies, helps buy oxygen tents and other much-needed hospital equipment.

Names of patrol leaders who will meet with Scoutmaster W. McFarland are needed as soon as possible. Scouts will plan the program for the annual patrol leaders' conference on the last Saturday in November.

Canada Prepared

All Troops to Get Radiation Meters

OTTAWA (CP)—The army has left no doubt that it is determined to be fully prepared for atomic warfare. Every Canadian soldier is to be issued with an atomic-radiation detection device known as a dosimeter.

The army has settled on two types of dosimeters for service issue. No contracts have yet been let but the army has set aside funds for their purchase.

One type is to be worn by every soldier and form part of his medical record. It will be read by experts after the soldier has been in atomic battle or tests to determine whether he has been subjected to too much radiation to stay on the job.

The other, a pencil-like type, will be carried by officers and senior NCOs to determine the amount of radiation in a unit's immediate area.

CHECK WHOLE ZONES

Still other, bulkier types will be carried by teams for "feeling out" an area for radioactivity to determine dangerous or safe — "hot" or "cool" — zones.

Decision to acquire dosimeters is the latest in a series of moves

Worst Crash

Kills 10 In Manitoba

WIRDEN, Man. (RUP)—Ten persons were killed on the Trans-Canada Highway 11 miles east of here late Thursday night in what police officials said yesterday was the worst single traffic accident in Manitoba's history.

The lone survivor of the head-on crash was taken by air ambulance from Wirden to Regina yesterday.

Killed in one car were Mrs. Ethel Pinder, 39, of Saskatoon, and her four children. Her husband, a prominent Saskatoon druggist, is in fair condition. Killed in the other car were Kenneth G. Jensen, 22, of Winnipeg, Donald G. Engahl, 30, of Camrose, Alta., Stanley Lasek, 26, of Elkhorn, Man., and David R. Williams, of Brandon.

AGANA: Guam—Tomas Sabas,

24-year-old former boxer described as a homicidal maniac, was formally charged with murder for the senseless slaying of the six-year-old daughter of a navy officer.

SOS Signal

50 Years Old

BERLIN (Reuters)—ROR celebrated its 50th birthday this week. The signal, traditional distress call for ships, was adopted at an international conference in Berlin in October, 1906. It was chosen because the Morse series, three dots, three dashes and three dots, made a clear impact in the uncertain radio telegraphy used at the time.

NANAIMO—Annual Vancouver Island CCE party conferences will be held in Nanaimo Oct. 28.

A few of the activities provided by the YWCA, a Red

Feather agency, are badminton, glee club, art classes, bowling, softball and folk dancing.

In country club locker rooms and other places where there is a great deal of cutting in and out of the game, players often prefer Chicago to cardinals. A Chicago round lasts only one hour. Vulnerability is none. First round, three cards, second and third rounds, one card only. Fourth round, one card only. In this last deal, making a part score carries a bonus of 100 points so there is huge competition for the contract, although not often with as little ammunition as South had for his one trump overall.

West's three kings were assurance that his side had the balance of power, so he doubled and led a heart. For over three hours of a one card trump, three to an ace in partner's suit helped declarer more than the defense. When East won the first trick with the ace—deklarer dropped the five on the first heart return, he placed the now in force West's king. Conceding the four-spot encouraged the declarer to continue hearts.

When South's jack won the fourth trick, he still had a good heart. However, he couldn't cash it with a Red Feather agency, but most of the time, declarer's pay nothing and very which he had already discarded a few are asked to pay the maxi diamond, a spade and a club. So much.

DIEFENBAKER

Choice of B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Donnie Finlayson, leader of the Progressive Conservative party in British Columbia, came out Friday night for John Diefenbaker as national party leader.

"I think the election of Mr. Diefenbaker would be a disaster from coast to coast," he said. "He possesses qualities of leadership and would make a great prime minister."

Hobby Costs $50

NANAIMO (CP) — Robert Lorne Amos' hobby cost him $50 when he was fined $25 for driving without a driver's licence and another $25 for not having current licence plates on the car.

He said he had been working on an old car and towed it around the block to get it started. He said he was spotted by police just as he got the car going.

Scores Turned Away

Alberni district residents stood for more than an hour outside their courthouse yesterday waiting to hear trials of teenagers charged with cemetery desecration. When doors opened the crowd surged forward to jam the tiny police office where court was held. At least 100 spectators were unable to get in. (Colonist photo by Alec Merriman.)

One Girl Changes Plea; Other in Juvenile Court

By ALEC MERRIMAN

ALBERNI—Two of four teenagers charged in the Alberni graveyard desecration case were free on bail last night while the other two languished in Alberni and Port Alberni jails.

Alberni Magistrate Thomas Patterson granted Alma Doreen Lockner, 19, half of $1,000 cash after she had changed her earlier plea of guilty to one of not guilty.

She was released to the care of relatives in Vancouver and will appear again in Alberni police court Friday at 11 a.m. David Windsor Ferguson, 19, who has not yet entered a plea, was released on bail of $2,500 and will appear Friday.

JUVENILE CASE
A juvenile girl charged in the case, who had earlier been fined for failing to appear in court and pleaded guilty, was transferred back to juvenile court on grounds that her parents had not been present at the original hearing.

She will appear in juvenile court Wednesday to face a charge of committing a delinquency. Magistrate Patterson refused to entertain a request for a change of plea for William Harold Nelson, 18, who had earlier pleaded guilty, and remanded him until Tuesday for a probation report and possible sentencing.

Ronald MacIsaac, Nanaimo

lawyer, appearing for Nelson, said he would make another request for a change of plea.

Fully an hour before court was held, nearly 150 Alberni district residents clamored outside the courthouse doors waiting for the hearing. They appeared interested and curious about the case that has been the talk of the Albernis since Sept. 23 when the veterans' plot in the Greenwood Cemetery was found a shambles and a body dug from a grave.

HEAR CHARGE
Only about 40 spectators were able to crowd in to hear the youths charged with offering an indignity to a dead human body. E. D. Strongitharm of Nanaimo, who appeared for Ferguson, said he would ask for a preliminary hearing, and Crown counsel Robert Ohs said the prosecution would be prepared to proceed with the case Friday.

Mr. Strongitharm asked for a bail of $2,000, noting that maximum penalty was "only five years" and there was "no reason to expect he (Ferguson) would receive the maximum penalty."

Three-Man Gang Rule Demanded by Loggers

DUNCAN—A representative meeting of all fallers and buckers working within the jurisdiction of Local 1-80, IWA, has given full endorsement to the district and local union policy compelling the employment of three-man gangs on all operations.

Personnel Man To Speak Here

Ralph W. Purves, personnel manager of B.C. Electric Co. Ltd., Vancouver, will speak on "Employer Motivation and Counselling" at the first meeting of the season of the National Office Management Association of the Pacific Club local said, "and second only to loaders."

Modern methods have greatly increased the production for the operator, but it has also greatly increased the hazard for the faller and buckers, he said.

Strict enforcement of the union conditions requiring three-man gangs was decided on because of the high accident rate sustained by fallers and buckers. In the past some operations have employed two-man gangs and in some cases only one man was used for the job.

"It is the highest of any class of the season of the Na of worker in the industry," George Smythe, president of the local said, "and second only to loaders."

before you facing a maximum penalty. It is this one. I feel the ball should be substantial. Mr. Ohs countered.

Mr. MacIsaac claimed Nelson had a right to change his plea as he had not previously been represented by counsel and had been under a misapprehension as to his legal position.

"We have read in the newspapers of liquor... nightmare case... a bad dream," he said. "This is a case which could be taken as not guilty by reason of temporary insanity by reason of liquor."

He was strongly opposed by Mr. Ohs, who claimed the accused in pleading guilty and giving a police statement "had every reason to know what he was doing."
